Dear Colleague

Invitation to a South East Coastal Change and Planning Conference
Tuesday 23 March 2010

GOSE, in conjunction with Defra and CLG, would like to invite you to a South East Coastal Change and Planning Conference taking place on Tuesday 23rd March 2010 at the Ramada Jarvis Hotel in Brighton.

This event will cover the latest developments on coastal change and related planning policies. It will also provide you with an introduction to the work of the coastal change pathfinders in your area so that you can share in the practice and lessons that emerge from their work.

Attending this event will give you the opportunity to:

- Find out the latest from Defra on coastal change policy;
- Hear from all of the four coastal change pathfinder authorities in the South East on the innovative work they are doing in exploring new approaches to planning for, and managing, adaptation to coastal change in partnership with their communities;
- Hear from CLG, who will introduce the new Development and Coastal Change Planning Policy, including an explanation of why we need it, what it does, how it works and how it relates to the policy on development and flood risk in PPS25.
- Consider how to put this policy into practice.
